ATLANTA, SEPTEMBER 20, 1873.

Summary of State News.

—ROME.

It was rumored in Rome on Wednesday that the desperado Lobs, who killed Mr. Taylor, near the Alabama line, had been taken from the Dallas county, Ala.) jail and shot by disguised men last week.

Mr. F. M. Dunning, in the absence of the police officer, the former having gone to Cedartown, and the latter to Cedar Run, on Wednesday, and finding that Cordelia Perry's office on Wednesday, and finding that Cordelia Perry's office on Broad street, number 168, series E, in the police district of the Fair Association, which could be the letter to the Farlor Organ valued at $200.—Commercial.

—THOMASVILLE.

Two young ladies, Misses Sarah Norris and Ella Hall, aged respectively fifteen and thirteen years, were drowned in Ochlockonee river Sunday afternoon a short distance below the South Georgia and Florida Railroad bridge. Miss Norris was on a visit to Mr. Hall's family, and after dinner the two girls left the house for the ostensible purpose of taking a walk. Not returning, their friends instituted a search. About 7 o'clock Monday morning the body of one of the girls was discovered lodged against a limb in the river, and near by, on the sand bar, was found the clothing and jewelry of each. This left no doubt as to the fate of the other, and the searchers at once directed their efforts to the recovery of the body from its watery grave. A short search proved successful—the missing body being on the bottom in the immediate vicinity of the other. It is supposed that the girls went into the river, on the sand bar side, to bathe, but ventured too far, were caught in the quicksands, lost their balance, and by the current carried into the deep water.

LYTLE.—On Monday afternoon Mr. W. L. Hudson, Justice of the Peace for the 1227th District, held an inquest on the bodies—Dr. R. J. Brice making a post mortem examination, to have not seen the Justice's return, but learn that it is, in substance, that the girls came to their death by drowning, at the hands of unknown parties. We also learn that Dr. Brice's affidavit is to the effect that the person of Miss Norris had been violated. On examining the grounds, a large bare-foot track was discovered on the sand bar upon which the girls left their clothing and leading from thence into the water.—Southern Enterprise.

—AUGUSTA.

Mr. Colton Lynes, of Augusta, has accepted the Professorship of Modern Languages, in the North Carolina Military Institute, which will open the first of October next at Charlotte.—The policemen raided upon the Augusta draymen on Wednesday and caught seventy-five who had no numbers on their drays. Twenty-three proved that the numbers dropped off, and the other two were induced to take out licenses in very short order.—Money is tighter in Augusta than it has been for many years past.—Another piece of casualty has just come to light in connection with one of the Masonic boarding houses in Augusta. Right in the gulley party. Brass was sold going as and under cheaper terms, but found out to be brass and the firm out of over $300 or two forged checks. He has escaped to New York.—Chronicle and Sentinel.

—COLUMBUS.

Business in the Mayor's Court is reviving.—The Cassia campmeeting stood on Wednesday after a very successful meeting. Good access can were made to the church.—Enquirer.

—SAVANNAH.

Doctor Rogers has resigned his position as the head of the City Dispensary, leaving Doctor Morel in charge.—Yesterday was a regular knock down fight on Bryan street in Savannah early Thursday morning. It was witnessed by a gentleman from his bedroom window. No police could be seen, and the fight lasted for an hour and the whole party of roughs escaped after alarming the entire neighborhood.—A Coroner's inquest was held in Savannah, on Wednesday, over the bodies of a couple of negro infants found buried near the city in soap boxes. There is no doubt but that the crime of infanticide has been perpetrated. No arrests have been yet made, but suspicion rests upon several parties, and the matter will be further investigated.—Colored highwaymen have turned up in Savannah, and recently robbed an old negro woman of five dollars.—On Tuesday afternoon a little daughter of Mr. E. J. McNeil had very narrow escape from drowning, and only by the heroic conduct and presence of mind of a little negro boy about fifteen years of age. Several children were playing on the piazza of the bath house owned by Mr. George Buckingham at Isle of Hope, on Tuesday afternoon, and one of them, a little girl, aged about ten or eleven years, ventured too near the edge, when she fell over into about fifteen feet of water. The little negro boy above referred to, without hesitating or waiting a single moment, sprang into the water, seized the child around the waist, brought her to the surface, and, being quite near the bath house, caught hold with his other hand. He remained in this position for a sufficient length of time for persons who witnessed the accident from the shore to go to his assistance, which of course required but a few minutes, when both were taken ashore in safety.—Advertiser and Republican.

—GREENSBORO.

Mr. Elias B. Cox'ew, an aged and worthy citizen of Greene county, died in Greensboro Thursday the 11th instant.—A large sturgeon, weighing one hundred and fifteen pounds was caught by Mr. George Hall in Oconee River, on Friday last, near Hall's ferry.—Henry Jackson, the escaped penitentiary convict, and implicated in the murder of Miss Richards, of Crawford county, on the 30th day last adorned with a pair of bracelets to all out his term of service in the chain gang.—At the recent term of the Superior Court, Judge Bartlett presiding, George Copeland, alias Simpson, was sentenced to be hung on Friday the 24th of October next, for the murder of Miss Sarah Richards.—Herald.

—ALBANY.

Albany "knock-em-stiff" whisky had the effect on Sunday last to cause a Maconite to fall from his chair and bruise his head and ear considerably. Instead of causing the transient Macon'te death in part injured, it had the opposite effect to make him rub his left thigh, though the bruise was on the right side of his head.—Mr. William Black, colored, was investigating a pile of empty corn sacks, stowed away in an empty room at Holley's store, when he placed his hand upon a sack which appeared to be inhabited. Turning the sack upside down, he emptied a sparkling-eyed rattlesnake upon the floor, and following the injunctions of Scripture he placed the foot of his No. 11 boot upon the head of that rattlesnake, and in two minutes there was a dead snake in that stable.—Not half a cot'on crop has been raised here this season.—Central City.

—WAYNESBORO.

A little daughter of Mrs. Mary V. Attaway, while swinging on the cemetery gate one day last week, had a leg broken by the falling of one of the large weights used in hanging the gate to the post. A number of our young men were out on a fox chase Monday night. At last accounts Reynard was holding his own, with a fair prospect of being left master of the field.—Expositor.

—DALTON.

Major A. J. Cunningham, one of the most experienced and efficient railroad officials in the South, died on Sunday of congestion of the liver at his residence in Dalton. He leaves a wife and one little girl.—North Georgia Citizen.

—CENTERSVILLE.

Several deaths occurred in and near the city last week. Among them was Mr. Joseph Terrell, a very old citizen, a Miss Milhollen who was here on a visit, and little child of Mr. John Collins.—On last Friday, the house occupied by Mr. A Leak, took fire and came near being consumed.—George Jackson, oldest son of M. J. and Emeline Wheeler, died on the 9th inst. in Cherokee county, Ga.—Mrs. Howard, the mother of Col. J. F. Howard, departed this life last Tuesday evening the 16th inst. at her home in this city.—Standard and Express.

S KATHAIRON

Only 50 Cents per Bottle.

It promotes the GROWTH, PRESERVES the COLOR, and increases the Vigor and BEAUTY of the HAIR.

OVER THIRTY YEARS AGO LYON'S KATHAIRON FOR THE HAIR was first placed in the market by Professor E. Thomas Lyon, a graduate of Princeton College. The name is derived from the Greek word "Kathro," signifying to cleanse, purify, rejuvenate, or restore. The favor it has received, and the popularity it has obtained, is unprecedented and incredible. It increases the GROWTH and BEAUTY of the HAIR. It is a delightful dressing. It eradicates Dandruff. It prevents the hair from turning gray. It keeps the head cool, and gives the hair a rich, soft, glossy appearance. It is the SAME IN QUANTITY and QUALITY as it was over a Quarter of a Century Ago, and is sold by all Druggists and Country Stores at only FIFTY Cents per Bottle.

Woman's Glory is Her Hair.

LYON'S

KATHAIRON

Dr. Calhoun's Liver Pills.

I AM engaged in the Manufacture of the Celebrated Family Medicine, known as the Calhoun Liver and Anti-Bilious Pills, under the supervision and assistance of Dr. Calhoun himself. This Pill has been in use for the last thirty-five years and has taken precedence over all other Family Preparations, by all that have used them. Thousands would certify to their great value if necessary. The fact should supersede any amount of certificates, and that fact is this: Dr. Calhoun has been physician to the Fulton County Prison for over seven years, and in that time prisoners ranged from 30 to 70, laboring under all the diseases incident to this climate. With but few exceptions, they have all been treated with this Pill, and astonishing to say, during that long period not a solitary death occurred under his treatment. This fact is worth any amount of testimonials.

I am now prepared to fill orders from Druggists, Merchants and others. All orders sent me shall receive prompt attention. There is no type of FEVER, DYSPEPSIA, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, RHEUMATISM, CHOLERA MORBUS, BILLIOUSNESS and SICK HEADACHE, or other diseases of a Southern climate, but yields readily to this preparation.

For sale by all druggists.

ATLANTA:

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1873.

Brevities.

The Speaker of the British House of Commons sails for New York Saturday.

The California Legislature is expected to stand—Grant, 83; Independent and Democrat, 88.

A Washington lady has all the hats and straw which belonged to the late Henry Barry Lowrey.

It is stated that the manufacture of butter from fat is a growing industry in New York. The company have sent a firkin to the President. He did not decline.

General John C. Breckenridge has returned to his home in Lexington, Kentucky, from a summer's trip East and North.

Mr. Edwin James, the London barrister, is to be invited to contest Marylebone at the next election, the borough which he previously represented in two Parliaments.

Miss Margarete Bennett, a sister of the late James Gordon Bennett of the New York Herald, died recently at Huntly in Scotland in the eightieth year of her age.

Leavenworth, Kansas, boasts of a frost on Sunday night a week ago. At Fairmount, near Leavenworth, the frost was so heavy the letters could be traced on the fence boards.

The late Duke of Brunswick was borne to his grave on the funeral car that was used at the obsequies of Louis XVIII., the Duke de Morny and Prince Jerome Bonaparte.

It was an Irish corner who, when asked how he accounted for an extraordinary mortality in Limerick, replied sadly: "I cannot tell. There are people dying this year that never died before."

Return J. Meigs, Esq., of Nashville, an old citizen, and for many years a distinguished light among the legal fraternity of Nashville, and author of Meigs' Digest, is now on a visit to friends in that city.

The nigger Pinchback, who was once Lieutenant Governor of Louisana, has the following engraved on his visiting card: "Ex-Lieutenant Governor Percy Bysche Shelby Pinchback, of New Orleans, Louisiana." Modest, ain't it?

A Danbury carpenter who has been reading about the great national park to be established in the Yellowstone country, has sent an application to Washington for a job of marking the little boards which notify people to keep off the grass.

At Janesville, Wisconsin, on the 17th, at the Southern Wisconsin Fair, Colonel D. Wyatt Aikin of South Carolina, addressed 15,000 people, many of whom were grangers, arguing in favor of Free Trade and opposition to monopolies. Colonel Aiken is one of the Executive Committee of the National Grange.

The cotton seed mills of New Orleans and Memphis consumed, last year, 76,500 tons of seed. The mills of New Orleans alone exported 1,650,000 gallons of oil and 14,750 tons of oil seed oil cake. This branch of industry is highly profitable in New Orleans, and we do not see what prevents it from being carried on to advantage in other quarters.

A certain reverend gentleman thinks that literary women should not marry. Mrs. Hemans, Mrs. Sigourney, Mrs. Norton, Mrs. Fanny Kemble Butler, all had domestic infelicity. Hannah Moore, Miss Edgeworth Miss Sedgwick, Alice and Phebe Cary, Louise Alcott, Elizabeth Phelps, whose books made the world better than they found it, did well to remain single.

The Bishop of Fulda seems resolved not to pay the fine of 400 thalers imposed upon him by the German Government for contumacy, and evidently prefers three months' imprisonment. He has disposed of the whole of his fortune, so that execution will be useless. His clergy have assured him of their keeping strictly priestly vows during his imprisonment, and say they will follow fearlessly his august example.

Politics in Mississippi: "My Ferns and Mr. Cairman: Dem bonds what de doctor spoke 'bout ought to be repudiated. Ise all my life been in favor ob repudiating dem bonds. Dem bonds and the Democrats what gin dem bonds and been de cause of all our 'sturbance and troubles. And now I say I favor dem bonds, and all you good 'publicans must do de same."

The great advance in the value of oil paintings during the past few years is well shown in the sale of a picture by Rembrandt. "The Burgomaster's Daughter," which took place at the rooms of Messrs. Sotheby, Wiskinson & Hodge, in London, a few weeks ago. The picture was originally in the Pourtales collection, and was sold a few years ago from that gallery for $1,000. At the recent sale it brought $7,750.

Hop-packing in Maine has begun rather earlier than usual, owing to the recent frosts and heavy winds breaking the vines. The average number of poles to the acre is 1,000. One acre will produce 500 pounds of dried hops. This year is considered a poor one for hops. The present market price is 25 cents per pound. Since the English beer makers have been using strychnine instead of hops, and that article has largely taken the place of malt and hops all over the world, the hop market has probably suffered some.

Cincinnati Commercial: Application was made in the Probate Court yesterday for marriage licenses on behalf of two sisters and their brother, daughters and son of Mr. Henry Yost, of Liberty street. Mr. William Boettger took out the license for Miss Yost, and Mr. William Tateman the license to marry Miss Lizzie Yost. J. H. Yost, the son, procured the third license for his intermarriage with Miss Amelia Boasch. The young folks all leave the paternal roof for the hymeneal altar on the same day—Thursday of this week.

The Warrenton Index confirms the report that Col. Mosby recently wrote letters to the President and Postmaster-General Cresswell, explanatory of his position in the present canvass in Virginia stating that, if because of patronage bestowed upon him in the distribution of certain offices a different course was expected on his part, it would be gratifying to him to have said appointments revoked; and says that in confirmation of this presumption that they were satisfactory to the parties addressed, we state that when a radical delegation, headed by Platt, waited on Postmaster-General Cresswell this week, and demanded the removal of appointees made through the influence of Mosby, Cresswell refused to comply.

The Tennessee peanut crop this season is pronounced an almost total failure as to quantity, and not much better as regards quality. In the first place, in the peanut-growing counties of the State not one acre has been planted this year where ten were planted last season. Then a cold spring, which caused the seed to rot in the ground, and afterwards a continued wet season, which brought weeds and grass and indeed the farmers to abandon the culture of the root, having tended to so reduce the total crop that not one bushel will be raised this year to twenty-five last season, and some authorities go so far as to expect to find the crop running as low as one to fifty.

The consecration of the Rev. Dr. Benjamin H. Paddock, of Grace Church, Brooklyn, as Bishop of Massachusetts, in place of the late Bishop Manton Eastburn, took place in Brooklyn Wednesday morning. The ceremonies were conducted in Grace Church at 11:15 A. M. The procession of clergy—entered the church walking two and two, headed by presiding Bishop Right Reverend Dr. Smith, of Kentucky. It numbered at least 150 clergymen, attired in full canonicals, comprising many of distinction from Brooklyn, Massachusetts and other parts of the country. Among Bishops present were Bishop Stevens, of Pennsylvania; Littlejohn, L. I.; Williams, of Connecticut; Lee, of Delaware; Huntington, of Central New York; Howe, of Central Pennsylvania; Kerfoot, of Pittsburgh; Neely, of Maine, and Niles, of New Hampshire.

The Gainesville Post Office.

Our Gainesville friends are greatly exercised over the removal of the Post Office from the centre to the outskirts of the city. We trust that the authorities will see that right is done in the matter. A letter from there on the subject was unfortunately mislaid and cannot be found.

The Columbus Topic.

Our special from Columbus, published in yesterday morning's CONSTITUTION, stated that the CONSTITUTION containing the Lay-Hooper correspondence was eagerly sought after and hundreds could have been sold in addition to those disposed of. We can gather nothing more of the prevailing topic save that Colonel Lay, was still in Columbus. Mr. DeVotie is out in a card reiterating the falsity of the charge that an indignity had been offered his person.

The Financial Panic.

Scarcely after second edition for the latest news from New York. One little newsboy, alone, sold almost fifty copies of THE CONSTITUTION yesterday afternoon.

Sunday's Constitution.

To-morrow we shall issue several thousand extra copies of THE CONSTITUTION, as we have several large orders to fill. Advertisements should be sent in as early as possible.

To-morrow's CONSTITUTION will contain varied interesting contents and illustrations. The thrilling story of Annie Sinclair will be concluded, stirring events will be chronicled, and news from almost every quarter of the globe will be found in it.

Iron.

A bar of iron worth $1, it is estimated, is worth $10 50 when made into horse-shoes, $55 in the form of needles, $3,985 in penknife blades, and $250,000 in balance springs for watches. Northwest Georgia abounds in iron ores of the finest quality and in inexhaustable quantities. And yet we complain of our poverty. Will some reader estimate the value of our ores?

The Wall Street Money Crash in New York.

The telegraph brings us further particulars of the distressing and tremendous money crash in Wall street, New York. Thirteen New York firms and half a dozen Philadelphia firms have already suspended. Where it will end remains to be seen.

The statement that the government will pour five or ten millions of money on the market and relieve the pressure is the ray of light that betokens day again.

The two largest suspensions, those of Jay Cooke & Co. and Fisk & Hatch are declared to be only temporary. But many smaller firms must go hopelessly by the board, and it will be difficult to estimate the reach of the damage.

Stocks have depreciated. Large speculations in them are reported. Many sharp, cool-headed fellows will make fortunes out of the disaster, and benefit by the reaction coming.

As soon as mail accounts come we will give our readers full details of the great crash.

Hobson's Choice.

Alcorn and Ames have a clear field in Mississippi. At the opening of the Convention in Meridian last Wednesday, the advocates and opponents of a straight ticket were about equal, but the anti-nominationists steadily gained ground, carrying the temporary organization, which was in the end declared permanent. Forty-five counties were represented. The resolution of Hon. Jeff. Wilson, of Pontotoc, declaring the inexpediency of a Democratic State ticket for the approaching election, drew out the ablest men in the convention. Messrs. Meek, Galbright and Tyson led the side that favored a straight ticket, and Generals Featherston and Robert Lowry and others advocated the contrary policy. The resolution was carried by a vote of 98 to 45. The subsequent resolution of Hon. H. M. Street, pledging the convention's hearty support to whatever policy should be adopted, was carried by a very large majority—only three counties objecting to that unqualified endorsement of Alcorn in his effort to defeat the carpet-bagger from Massachusetts.

The Alcorn Convention met in Jackson yesterday to complete a ticket, but at this writing we are not informed of what was accomplished. The night dispatches will doubtless give us the complexion of the new ticket. That it will include a colored candidate or two is certain. Senator Alcorn is determined to beat the adventurers, and to do so he must have colored votes. He is sanguine that he can get them. His speeches on the stump are scorching exposures of the dangerous inheritance beneathed to the State by bayonet rule, and of his principal carpet bag supporters. Whatever the Jackson ticket may be, the Democracy of Mississippi have decided that they will stand by it for the hope that Senator Alcorn holds out of driving from the State the scoundrels who come to foment dissension among the races, and to steal all they can reach and who will bring ruin to all if they once get into unrestrained power. They hope to drive the chief of the carpet-baggers back to his father-in-law for consolation; and, in the event of success, to deprive the pestilential, thieving brood of all power for future mischief in the State.

South Carolina News.

The Patrons of Husbandry have nine Granges in successful operation in Abbeville county.

Lodges of the Good Templars are in successful operation at Greenwood, Bethlehem, Ninety-Six, Lowndesville, Shiloh Church and Willington.

One hundred and four bales of new cotton have been shipped over the Greenville and Columbia Railroad from Abbeville since the first of last week. The platform at the depot begins to assume a business-like appearance.

The claim of Mr. Carmalt, of Charleston, for compensation for cotton destroyed by the Federal troops, has been disallowed by the mixed commission, and it is feared that the other claims of a like nature will share the same fate.

It is understood that arrangements have been perfected so as to enable shippers by the Greenville and Columbia and South Carolina railroads to receive their freight speedily. All freight leaving Charleston at night will reach Cokesbury, the lay-over station, in twenty-four hours thereafter.

The store house recently erected by Messrs. Barr & Cooper in the neighborhood of Indiantown, was destroyed by fire on last Thursday night. These gentlemen had purchased their stock of goods, but luckily they had not arrived. There can be no doubt but that the house was fired purposely.

A fatal collision took place on the Charlotte, Columbia and Augusta Railroad, about twenty minutes past 9 o'clock, of Wednesday morning. The scene of the catastrophe was about four and a half miles above Columbia, where the down passenger train and the paymaster's train came into collision. Paymaster William Elliott Orchard, of Columbia, and a colored road hand, named James Archie, were instantly killed; Roland Williamson, the engineer of the paymaster's train, was severely, and, it is feared, fatally injured, having his thigh crushed, besides sustaining internal injuries; a little colored boy, named Sawney, was also badly hurt; and the express messenger, W. C. Graham, was slightly wounded. The last named was the only person on the passenger train who was injured, the engineer of that train having saved himself by jumping from the engine a second before the collision. Another train was immediately dispatched from Columbia which brought in the dead and wounded and the passengers. Both engines were a complete wreck, and the express car was badly smashed.

The accident is explained in this way: The pay-train was endeavoring to make Stock's Turnout, three miles ahead, upon the presumption that the passenger train was twenty minutes behind time, as it was when last heard from at Ridgeway, but the latter train had made up fifteen minutes of the lost time, and hence the collision. Both trains were going at the top of their speed. W. E. Orchard, the paymaster, who was killed, was the son of W. H. Orchard, of Columbia, and about twenty-four years old. He was a young man of sterling qualities.

☞ The Independent South, speaking for Mississippi, says before the war the public printing in the State cost no more than $5,000 per annum, yet the proprietors of the "Pilot" have been paid for doing it during the last years upward of $388,000, making an average of $96,000 per annum.

THE CINCINNATI EXPOSITION.

A Letter from Our Own Correspondent.

CINCINNATI EXPOSITION, Sep. 6, 1873.

Editors Constitution: Once more to address you, hoping this may be as welcome as of yore. We send you a description of the position. Appropriately, is it named. It does expose to a great number of gazers the sciences, arts and tastes of mankind. There every branch of industry is displayed, from the ponderous wheels of an engine to the finest wheels of a watch, and to the artistic stroke of the painter's brush. There, indeed, are blended in one common mass, all the various works of mankind, which show that God made us for better purposes than pleasure alone.

How proud must those persons feel as they hear the praise of the applauding multitude who throng this vast arena, upon the fruits of their labor. On entering we are struck with the lovely scene before us. There we stand, as if by a magic wand and we were wafted into Dixie's lovely dells of majestic magnolias, palms, shaddocs and bright flowers. There are ferns, shrubs and plants from every clime on this terrestial globe; birds of every plumage and song are placed under huge magic cages over the trees. Little fishes swim in aly little nooks. Stuffed birds set perched upon the limbs; at the side is a grotto, but the back is one twenty-five feet high and sixty feet wide, basin sixteen feet. Three streams of water, six hundred gallons per minute, come rushing down twenty feet, with a roar and natural dash, with little trickling streams at intervals. Mosses, ferns, lillys all nod their little heads to the sparkling drops. Three jets in the basin throw up their silvery spray which falls upon the backs of some swans that gracefully glide around the pool. Rustic adornments are plentiful. The grotto was made by one Abel, a true sone of the ancient dame called Eve. The music work is by one Ellis, a Kentuckian, who certainly deserves the greatest praise for the taste that he has displayed in this department. A step and we stand amid the wonders of nature; here geology is laid upon velvet cushions in all its grandeur. Birds of every species stand silently looking with their dim eyes upon the wondering throng; fish can be caught without hook or net; butterflies with out spread wings move not; bugs are harmless; reptiles quiet.

A skeleton astride of an alligator, reminding us of two "deaths on a pale horse." But this is death on the alligator. Passing onward, we come to Frischmann's Compressed Yeast Company. These are splendid fellows. They do bake rolls that make your mouth water for more, and the best of it is, they give them away. Doughnuts, and buckwheat cakes, form a part of their bill of fare. Now enter the lower room. There are every species of machinery, from the huge 16 feet wheel of the Eastern Queen, to the 10 inch wheel of a glass engine, which works as regularly as any engine on the ground, making a variety of glass ornaments. A wood working machine turns out wooden cups of all kinds. It is wonderful to view the science displayed in this room, and the artist who so skillfully handles these different machines. A dear little machine that spins cable wire of all sizes, then twists them into a cable, is worth the price of admission. Now enter the main hall. In the centre stands a pagoda of the oriental style. Its golden crown looms in royal grace to the dome of the building. Rare exotics are at its base. A fine band discourses soft music. The galleries are crowded with bright-eyed nymphs. This hall is filled with jewels that would make "Old Ben's" fingers twitch to handle—glass, wood work, mettle wares, furs, India rubber goods and toys. A superb clock stands like a sentinel, grim in the centre of the hall, warning us of the great flight of time. The Lady Elgin has her place by the side of this mammoth time-keeper. Dohme's elegant display of jewelry, silverware, etc., etc., attracts much attention. Two elevators, each hydraulic, stand at the end. Lane Bradly, of this city, have a fine car. By the way, they are largely represented at this Exposition. They always patronise our fairs. We met them at the Louisiana State fair at New Orleans, in 1871. Their wares are alway good, and themselves the princes of good fellows. Posts & Co. have an excellent show of railroad fixings. Everything in this room, as in all the building deserves mention, but they are too numerous to attempt. But we must not omit the stylish show cases which fill the entire building. We do think that the ingenuity of man in that art is entirely expended. To see them alone, will pay for the money spent. A. J. Clark, a gent's furnishing manufactory, has a show case that cost eight hundred dollars. This is a young house, with two wings, and so handsomely filled you stand transfixed. Now look at all in the textile department. We cannot begin to enumerate the articles. Old Dame Fashion has her pack well undone. Ringwalt & Co. flank the old lady with carpets, curtains, embroidered chairs, foot stools, rugs, and everything for comfort. Mrs. Brothers shows her art in wax work, but she has a strong rival in Mrs. William Hall, of "Old Alabam." Needle work is well represented by the fair sisters of the West. But old Georgia will take the coveted medal in that line, and Atlanta claims the lady. So much for dear old Dixie. And more, too, Colonel Smith, of Richmond, will take a medal on West's safety car heater. The gallant Colonel lost his arm in the first battle of Fredricksburg, and is striving for his mark as a salesman. Success attend him and all other struggling "confeds." Dear old Georgia shows her mineral treasures to good advantage. This display is large Alabama, Tennessee, Virginia, North Carolina and Kentucky all take their stand with the other States, and proudly do they look. Can't say which way the prizes will go in this line. We regret not seeing some cotton bales as the prize offered is large.

We wish that we had Pemberton & Taylor's show. We would be sure of medals, as they could compete with anything on the ground, and the display is large, as well as the tremendous crowds that throng the place until 11 o'clock at night. In vain we look for your face and another "Green Line" excursion. Are you not coming? It will do you all good to take a trip to the Queen City and enjoy a smets face. The health of the city is good, the officers polite, and the shows good, only twenty-five cents to see that which would take a life time at one pence a day.

Yours truly, ***.

DEBTOR AND CREDITOR.

R. J. Thorton vs. J. McA. Gunn and Others.

Important Judicial Decision in Randolph Superior Court.

Editors Constitution: Judge Strozier presiding in the place of Kiddoo, who had been counsel for parties in 1869. Fillingam had his real estate set apart as a homestead, and afterwards, under the approval of the Ordinary, sold and conveyed it to Thornton at the price of $3,000, and reinvested a large part of the money in another place. Thornton invested nearly $1,000 in the improvement of the place upon which the creditors of Fillingam have levied since the publication of the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in Gunn vs. Barry. They have also levied on the property in possession of Fillingam, which was purchased with Thornton's money paid him for his former homestead. Fillingam is about to go into voluntary bankruptcy in order to have his property now in possession set apart as exempt to him, while his creditors are seeking to take Thornton's land and improvements, as well as that in Fillingam's possession.

At this stage of affairs Thornton, by attorneys H. & J. L. Fielder, filed his bill against the creditors and Fillingam, praying and injunction, to restrain the latter from going into bankruptcy, and carrying the property purchased with Thornton's money to have it set apart as a homestead, and to restrain the the creditors from selling complainant's property, paying an account of his improvements, and payment for them prior to creditors, and to be reimbursed out of the property, now in possession of Fillgam prior to creditors, or to require them first to exhaust that property before going on his.

The case was elaborately argued by Hood, Douglass and Clarke for the creditors, and Worrell for Fillingam, and by the junior partners for the complainants.

Judge Strozier sustained the bill and granted the injunction. The cause will probably come before the Supreme Court during the present term, and will be important in its effect to many readers of THE CONSTITUTION.

BENJAMIN E. MAYS OF GEORGIA.

HE TRIES TO GET A WASHINGTON LAWYER DIS-BARRED, AND GETS CENSURED HIMSELF.

WASHINGTON, September 19.—The Committee of the Bar Association of the District of Columbia, appointed at the request of R. A. Merrick, to investigate the charges made against him by B. E. Green, son of General Duff Green, and formerly of this city, made their report to-day.

The report contains copious extracts from the evidence, and sets forth that the charges have been shown to be without the slightest foundation, and that Green knew them to be false when he published them, and the committee are forced to this conclusion by Green's own testimony taken under oath before the Committee.

A series of resolutions were unanimously adopted by the Association enforcing the views of the report condemning Green in dignified but decided language, and declaring that the conduct of Mr. Merrick in the transactions referred to was not only free from culpable but was highly honorable, efficient, faithful and magnanimous.

The controversy arose out of some transactions that took place while Merrick was acting as the counsel for Green in prosecuting suits to recover property for Green, in this District, and of which he had been deprived during the war. The suit was prosecuted to success by Merrick, and has since sold for seventy-five thousand dollars.

THE GREAT MONEY SMASH.

SIX SUSPENSIONS IN PHILADELPHIA—FISK & HATCH EXPECT TO RESUME—FULL PARTICULARS ABOUT THE DIFFERENT SUSPENSIONS.

PHILADELPHIA, September 19.—Suspended: H. B. Douglass, Bayard, J. H. Yerkes, John Lloyd, Gilbough & Co., and Bond. All are small firms except Gilbough & Co.

NEW YORK, September 19.—Fisk & Hatch say their suspension is temporary. Their advances are upon the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad and the Central Pacific. They expect to resume business as soon as the panic ceases.

Fitch & Co. have suspended.

The office of Fisk & Hatch is strongly guarded by the police.

A prominent Wall street banker says if the movement now making to get the Secretary of the Treasury to come to the relief with ten millions should fail, there will be a general suspension of banks and others.

A meeting of bank Presidents, is now being held at the Clearing House.

Vernon & Hay have suspended.

The police prevent any but members from entering the Stock Exchange.

E. D. Randolph & Co., bankers of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad, and Wm. H. Connor have announced suspension.

The clearing house appointed a committee of five to prepare a plan to relieve the present difficulties. At 2 o'clock a better feeling prevailed.

Western Union stock 72.

The run on the Union Trust Company is subsiding. A more or less crowd is around every teller's desk.

George B. Alley, whose suspension has already been announced, is widely known in connection with fast horses, having raised Dexter. He says his suspension is caused by a general decline in stocks, especially Vanderbilt stocks. His liabilities are not large, and he expects to resume soon.

Greenleaf Morris & Co. are an old and wealthy stock firm.

President Calhoun, of the Fourth National Bank, says we have no reason to fear any thing.

President Tappay, of the Gallatin National Bank, says he believes the better banking institutions will weather the storm.

Secretary Carlton, of the Union Trust Company, says that company is perfectly solvent and will meet all demands. It was reported that this company had seven hundred thousand dollars on deposit last night.

Mr. Thorndyke of Jay Cooke & Co., said in an interview this afternoon, that the firm hoped to pay all of its liabilities.

Mr. Garland, another member of the firm, said that the London house would have a large surplus after the payment of all its debts, unless there is a great shrinking in the value of their securities.

The latest is that the government will come to the rescue to-morrow by buying five millions of bonds.

The grain and provision markets are all unsettled by the Wall street panic. State and railroad bonds and city bank shares have been practically neglected, while dealings in railroad stocks continued on an enormous scale. This [illegible] the principal transactions have been in [illegible] Mail, Central and Hudson, Western Union, Rock Island, Wabash, St. Paul, Northwestern, Lake Shore and Erie.

Outside purchasers continue in considerable numbers on the declining markets for investments which aided in straightening the market this morning. Assistant Treasurer Hillhouse says it is in the power of the National banks to avert further disaster, and they will undoubtedly do so.

3:15 P. M.—The Evening Post is informed that Secretary Richardson will offer to buy from five to ten million of five twenty's tomorrow. This will throw into the banks legal tender notes, for the large currency balance in the Treasury is nearly all composed of legal tenders. With the panic thus checked a calm, with low rates for money, will soon follow.]

Jacob Little & Co. have failed.

MIDNIGHT NEWS.

NOVEL MASONIC PARADE.

ON PIKE'S PEAK OVER FOURTEEN THOUSAND FEET ABOVE THE SEA.

DENVER, September 19.—At one o'clock to-day Colorado Commandery No. 1 Knights Templar convened in special conclave on the summit of Pike's Peak, and was opened in ample form. Probably no similar Masonic body ever before held a meeting over fourteen thousand feet above the level of the sea. After the meeting the Knights engaged in a parade and drill, going through the entire manual of arms in use by the order.

COLLISION OF SHIPS.

NEW YORK, September 19.—A St. Johns dispatch says the British steamer Precursor, during hazy weather in latitude 45 deg. 27 min., longitude 54 deg., 50 min., collided with the American schooner Addie Osborne, of Provincetown, Massachusetts, and sank her in five minutes. Captain McDonald and the first mate were lost. The survivors say they were in the water two hours before they were rescued.

THE STUNNING MONEY SMASH.

THE LATEST NEWS IS MORE CHEERING—THE CRISIS THOUGHT TO BE OVER—THE GOVERMENT WILL BUY TEN MILLIONS OF BONDS SATURDAY.

LONDON, September 19.—Jay Cooke, McCulloch & Co. of this city have paid over the counter all day, notwithstanding the run on the house.

NEW YORK, September 19.—The Union Trust Company paid until 4 o'clock, an hour later than usual. The Manhattan Bank is open until the same hour to certify the Union Trust Company's checks. Prominent bank officers are of the opinion that the worst of the crash is over. The volume of business in stock exchange largely exceeded that of yesterday, while the fluctuations are much greater.

As the announcements of the failures followed each other in quick succession the excitement became wilder, and heavy blocks of stocks were thrown overboard, apparently regardless of the prices they brought.

The Express to-night sums up the situation as follows: "The day closes on the whole, with fewer killed and wounded than might be expected, all things considered.

No trust company has suspended. No bank has refused payment. All the great railway corporations are apparently as firm as a rock."

The following firms have suspended in addition to those already reported: Whittemore & Anderson and Smith, Beaver & Co.

WASHINGTON, September 18.—The Secretary of the Treasury at a late hour to-night telegraphed to the Assistant Treasurer at New York, to purchase ten millions of bonds on Saturday.

PHILADELPHIA, September 19.—The feeling here, is that the worst has passed and that to-morrow will witness a decided change for the better.

It is authoritatively stated that neither the State or city funds are disturbed. General Grant is in town, and was waited on to-day by prominent and influential men.

☞ The New York Herald publishes a stricture from a lady correspondent on the indecency of Matt Morgan's pictures in the "Black Crook," which provokes the painter to hurl the following at the public:

To the Editor of the Herald: I am exceedingly loth to take up your time or encroach upon your valuable space, but the prominence you have given to "a young lady's opinions" on my pictures in the "Black Crook," compels me to say a few words in self-defense. May I ask the young lady in question, or any other lady, young or old, if she has ever seen the illustrious American sculptor, Hiram Power's statue of the "Greek Slave?" Has she ever seen Titian's "Venus?" Has she ever been into any great collection of paintings, and whether she has come to the conclusion that such exhibitions are 'outrageously lewd?' If she has come to such conclusion, I have nothing more to say; but while thousands of pure minded American ladies can contemplate the work of our great sculptors and painters, both here and abroad, without a blush, I have yet to learn that the mere fact of such works being exhibited in the 'Black Crook' would render them 'outrageously lewd.' To the pure all things are pure. Away with such criticism! It is of the kind which would cover the 'Venus de Medicis' with a gauze petticoat and put trowsers on the legs of pianofortes. I remain yours, obediently, MATT MORGAN."

☞ A rather too jolly wedding party is reported in an English newspaper as having turned the Church of St. Simon, Selford, into something very like a free-and-easy, manger the remonstrances of the horrified parson. One bridesmaid (being pretty drunk) indulged in loud and jocose exclamations during the reading of the service, and a groomsman sat with his hat on his head. While the certificates were preparing the merry bridesmaid led off a dance opposite the vestry door, and apparently was quite as happy as if she had just been married herself. Marriage below considered a sacrament by the Angelican Church, this was rather a peculiar way of celebrating it.

A Noted Gambler.

"Old Tom" Hammer is dead. A dispatch announcing the fact was received yesterday morning from Captain Dan Kinney of Nashville. The dispatch simply stated that he had died at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon while sitting in a chair. No particulars were given, but judging from his known habits his death was doubtless caused by an epileptic fit, as he had several attacks of that nature in this city.

The deceased was born in Ithaca New York, but had, at an early age, with his older brothers, removed to Nashville, in this State. At an early age he entered upon a sporting life, and during his prime handled an immense quantity of money, as he was a gambler in the true sense of the word. Inheriting a love of horse flesh from h's father, who was a noted race horseman, Hammer paid a great deal of attention to race matters, his taste running in the way of trotting stock. During the last fifteen years he has owned a large number of very fast horses, the most notable and best known one perhaps being "Cap Kinney," a pacer that went low down in the twenties and carried off all the big put up in the southwest during his day. Like the large majority of sporting men, Hammer was a big hearted man, ever ready to help a friend or any one else who might be in trouble.

Before the war he dealt faro in this city, Lexington, Louisville, Nashville, Mobile, Atlanta, and New Orleans, and was generally successful. "The's" biggest bet, perhaps, against faro, was one time when under the influence of liquor, he was "steered" by Cornelius McCarty against "Old Duff," in New Orleans, and bet $3,800 on the corner of trayfive while the cards were coming out two at a time from the box. A peculiarity of late years was for him to hide his money from one dollar to five, upon various pretexts, representing that he did not have a dollar.

One time in coming up the river from New Orleans he begged his passage, drinks at the bar, and all little extras, and after landing here late at night, visited a faro bank and borrowed "checks" from all the players for a "stake." Losing all his bets, and the game closing, "The" got behind the bench, and opening out a 'snap,' lost $1,700 less $50 which he gave towards defraying the funeral expenses of a man whom he had never seen. Full of native wit, he was a very popular man with those who "gambol on the green."

Memphis Avalanche.

THE TOWN OF SHREVEPORT.—Shreveport, which is so severely afflicted with yellow fever, is situated on the west bank of Red River, in the northern part of Louisiana, about 300 miles by land northwest of Baten Rouge. It is a thriving town, and previously to its present isolation had daily communication by water and railway with New Orleans, and all parts of the country. A large business has been carried on at Shreveport, as it is advantageously situated for the shipment of cattle from Texas and of cotton from Louisiana. The population is about 4,607, of which 2,439 are white and 2'168 colored.

HOW A MAN GOT SHOT.

Two Enterprising Reporters Sold.

Two of the local reporters of "enterprising" newspapers appeared to officer Simpson yesterday morning for news. He told them that he had nothing, but he thought if they would go around to Ward & Nelson's, on Cherry street, they could probably get one, as a man got shot there about 2 o'clock that night before. "Is the telegraph and Messenger got it?" was the next question. "No." And off they started to get an "item." Arriving at the place stated, the following colloquy ensued:

"Mr. Nelson, I understand a man got shot here last night. Is it so?"

"Yes, sir."

"If you have no objection to telling, how did he get shot?"

"He paid ten cents a pound for them, sir."

Call Meeting of the Fairfield Bar.

COURT-HOUSE, August 23, 1873.

The members of the Fairfield bar met to take suitable and appropriate action in memory of the death of L. C. Cooper, a former member of the bar.

On motion Theodore G. Jones, Esq., was chosen chairman of the meeting, and W. J. Gibbs was appointed Secretary of the same.

Messrs. Scaly, Kirven and Moores were appointed as a committee to draft suitable resolutions in memory of the deceased, and the following were accordingly drawn up and adopted.

A few very appropriate, kind and feeling remarks were then made by Captain L. D. Bradley, expressive of the high esteem in which the deceased was held by his fellow members of the bar, and the deep loss they sustain in his death as a brother and friend.

On motion the meeting adjourned.

THEO. G. JONES, Chairman.

W. J. GIBBS, Secretary.

In memory of L. C. Cooper, we, the members of the Fairfield Bar in Court Room assembled, the 20th day of August, A. D., 1873, to pay our solemn tribute of respect to the memory of one of its late and worthiest advocates, who, by the relentless hand of death, was so suddenly snatched from our midst at 4 P. M. on the 17th instant, after a short illness of one week, in deep sorrow, unanimously adopt the following preamble and resolutions:

WHEREAS, The great Judge of the Universe in His supreme majesty—we hope, from this earthly tabernacle to that peaceful abode where the weary are at rest—our late associate and agreeable brother of the legal fraternity, who, though comparatively a stranger in our midst, had gathered around him many warm and devoted friends, both of his profession and clients, and particularly of the young men of the community with whom he was wont to be more intimately associated during his hours of leisure; therefore be it

Resolved, That as brother members of the Fairfield Bar, we deeply deplore the loss of so amiable a young lawyer, and sigh because we sensibly feel that while Fayette county is deprived of one of its noblest sons, society must mourn the loss of one of its brightest ornaments.

Resolved, That our loss is the more severely felt—being the least anticipated. Many years of life and usefulness seemed the portion of our lost companion; for the rich boon of young manhood kind Providence had vouchsafed to him; but death—busy here, busy there, busy everywhere—hath touched him with its shadowy wings, blighting his early manhood and our earthly hope, and yet we are assured that though the earthly casket is destroyed the jewel is saved.

Resolved, That we tender to the brethren of the lamented deceased among us, and to his bereaved mother, sister and brother in the State of Georgia, our heartfelt sympathy.;

Resolved, That the members of the Fairfield Bar, together with the officers of the Court, be requested to sign these resolutions.

Resolved, That the Hon. John B. Rector, Judge of the 31st Judicial District of the State of Texas, be requested to sign these resolutions and have the same spread upon the minutes of the Courts.

Resolved, That the Macon Ledger be requested to publish these resolutions, and that a copy of the same be sent to the mother of the deceased.

Resolved, That THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, a paper printed in the city of Atlanta, in the State of Georgia, be requested to publish a copy of these resolutions.

SUPREME COURT OF GEORGIA, September 19, 1873.
SOUTHWESTERN CIRCUIT.

No. 23—Argument concluded.

No. 10—T. C. Brown vs. W. C. Gill. Illegality, from Lee. Argued, Vason & Davis, Phil Cook, for plaintiff in error. Hines & Hobbs, W. F. Hawkins, contra.

No. 19, Hugh F. Arnold vs. A. H. Kendrick, administrator. Motion, from Sumter. Hines and Hobbs, Hawkins, Guerry and Hollis, for plaintiffs in error. N. A. Smith, C. T. Goode, contra.

Pending the argument of Mr. Hines, the Court adjourned until 10 o'clock A. M. to-morrow.

Twenty-six cases on the Southwestern Circuit still undisposed of.

The United States Courts.

The District and Circuit Courts of the United States met yesterday morning at their usual hour, his Honor Judge Erskine presiding.

In the Circuit Court the information case of the United States vs. two mules, B. Stripling, claimant, was taken up tried. Arguments were made by the District Attorney for the government and by Colonel Bleckley for the defendant. So much time was occupied by these gentlemen that the Circuit Court adjourned at the conclusion of Colonel Bleckley's speech. The District Attorney will make the concluding argument this morning.

In the District Court trial was had in the case of the United States vs. Herndon charged with illicit distilling. The Assistant District Attorney, Mr. George Thomas, represented the Government, and Mr. Julius L. Brown the defendant. Both of these gentlemen made able and lengthy addresses. The jury retired, after being charged by the Court, and after the expiration of two hours reported back that there was no chance of their agreement, and that one of their number was sick. By consent of counsel, the Court ordered a mistrial, and the jury were discharged.

The following gentlemen have been sworn in as talesmen jurors in the District Court: Gustavus Corput, Smith Woodward, G. M. Hanvey, and Peter Wimlish. Several cases were called and continued for the term, and at a late hour in the afternoon the Courts were adjourned until their usual hour of meeting this morning.

The cases set for trial to-day are: The United States vs. 2 mules, 800 barrels of flour, and 8 gallons of brandy—R. C. Guthrie, claimant. Same vs. 144 boxes of cigars, R. F. Pettox & Co., claimants. Same vs. 2 barrels of whisky, ——, claimant. Also the United States vs. James Tant, and George W. Lute, Revenue cases).

The Commissioner's Court.

Tandy W. Turner, of Dawson county, was discharged from jail yesterday morning by Commissioner W. B. Smith. The prisoner was convicted at the term before the present one of the United States Court of illicit distilling, and sentenced to five months imprisonment. He has been in jail here six months—five months for his sentence and one month for the costs—and was discharged yesterday under a recent act of Congress passed to meet cases where the convict is insolvent.

The Court of Ordinary.

According to announcement, argument was had yesterday before Judge Pittman in the Cox habeas corpus case. Col. S. B. Spencer and Mr. Henry Hillyer addressed the Court in behalf of the husband, and Mr. Stephens and Mr. B. H. Thrasher spoke in behalf of the wife. The attorneys commented at length upon the evidence which had been introduced on Thursday. The Ordinary reserved his decision, and will deliver it this morning at nine o'clock. In the meantime the children remain in the custody of the wife.

The Justices' Courts.

Juliet Sasseen yesterday tried Amanda Stannis, colored, for fornication committed with a negro man named Hudson. Mary Hudson, wife of the man, sued out the warrant. The magistrate required the defendant to give a bond of $50. A warrant has also been issued against the man, but up to five o'clock he had not been arrested.

SOME PLEASANT GOSSIP.

A Trip to Gainesville, and its Incidents Amusing and Practical—

So Much Screaching—The Railroad Critter Running Away—A New Spring of Marvellous Power.

GAINESVILLE, GA., September 17, 1873.

Editor Constitution: We send our dot—not "dots," as a certain typo made us say once in a previous letter—from Gainesville this time. On the morning of the 11th instant, we found ourselves on board the cars of the Air Line Railroad, en route for the "hills and dales" of old Hall. The Air Line is one of the best conducted roads we ever traveled—everything seeming to move on with the regularity of clock work, while the conductors are exceedingly attentive and polite. We congratulate the road on having in their employ such men as Messrs. Wells and Fowler.

INCIDENTS.

The incidents along the way were numerous, and some of them highly amusing. Just behind us sat a couple of pleasant looking old farmers, who, we learned from their conversation, were on their way to the up country to buy stock. They seemed to be in one of the liveliest moods imaginable, taking note of everything passing around them, and occasionally making some very laughable bluaders. One of them we remember. There are a great many down grades and steep places on the road, and as a natural consequence, the engineer would whistle on brakes. Then, too, the cattle seemed determined to annoy us all they could, and every few moments they would be upon the track, when the whistle would ring out sharp and clear. This soon attracted the attention of one of the old farmers, who exclaimed excitedly:

"I never heern such screeching on a train afore! What ails the critter you reckin? If it blows that are way much more it'll bust itself clean up, and then we'll be sot flat in the road, sure! I say, Jem," nudging his companion, "what do they do that fur?"

"Why," said the other, who seemed to be a little better versed in railroad matters than his associate, "don't you know what that's fur? Why, that's the signal to put on brakes, to be sure?"

"To put on bricks," exclaimed the other, who did not quite distinguish the words; "ye don't say so? Jew-pester how queer! This here's the fust train ever I heern tell of what they had to put in bricks to make it stop."

ANOTHER

We were so choked with mirth that we did not hear the remainder of the conversation, and when we had recovered from our laugh our rural neighbors had subsided into silence. We heard a gentleman on board the cars tell an incident that we thought still more amusing than this, about the time the cars commenced running between Atlanta and Gainesville, and when a goodly number of our country friends of this section lived out of sight and sound of the "iron horse."

An old lady from up about Flowery Branch somewhere, took the cars at that place, escorted by her son John, a tall, awkward, green looking lad. She had scarcely taken her seat when the cars started. With a cry of terror, she sprang to her feet, and, clasping her arms around the back of the seat in front, began pulling backward with all her might, while she screamed at the top of her voice:

"Lord a massy, John! Lord a massy, John! stop the critter, its runnin away!"

John, too, had been holding to the back of the seat as if for dear life, and now with the perspiration streaming from his face, he called out reassuringly:

"Never mind, ma'am! never mind! just you hold on tight. The critters only flyin, it'll light d'rectly."

GAINESVILLE.

At 11½ o'clock we reached Gainesville. The town proper lies about a half mile from the depot. Our drive through it was too hasty for us to form a correct idea of its appearance, therefore cannot write you a description of it as yet. That same afternoon we drove four or five miles out into the country, and then and there we were treated to some of the most magnificent views of scenery that it has ever been our good lot to behold. The country around here is truly a splendid one. It is impossible for us to describe it. It must be seen to be appreciated. One has glimpses enough now of the "red old hills of Georgia," and the valleys that lie between with the gurgling streams crossing and recrossing them like silver threads, while further away the blue crowned mountains throw their tall peaks to the sky forming a barrier to our line of vision.

It is said that when Mahomet first viewed the city of Damascus and the country round about from the top of a neighboring hill, he was so much struck with its exquisite beauty that he refused to enter it; for according to his belief man was allowed but one paradise, and he said that he cared not to take his on earth. Just so we doubt not that could the "Great Prophet" have changed places and had those hills and dales, those mountains and streams spread out in one grand panoramic view before him, his exclamations would have been the same. Is this too much enthusiasm? We think not. We certainly are charmed with the place and the people, but then we think we have just cause.

PREACHING.

On Sunday we attended service at the Methodist Church. This congregation is said to be the largest one in the place. They have recently erected themselves a neat and commodious house of worship, which was dedicated a few Sundays ago by Bishop Pierce. The pastor, the Rev. J. H. Bayler, is one of the most talented and earnest young ministers in our conference, and gives great promise of future usefulness and success.

THE SPRINGS ABOUT.

Yesterday morning we rode out to the Limestone springs, and this afternoon to the White Sulphur. We think them two of the loveliest places we ever saw, and feel assured that a summer could not be spent more delightfully than at either place, and we are glad to see that of late years the White Sulphur is getting to be so popular. It has always been a mystery to us why some people would flock to fashionable and expensive summer resorts, when they can have at these native springs such pure, fresh air, splendid water and beautiful scenery, together with health and pleasure at much cheaper rates. But we suppose it is all owing to fashion, for as a correspondent said some time ago, "one half the world is so crazy on that subject, that like a flock of sheep, they will follow the bell-wethers or break their necks in the attempt.

And now before closing, we want to say a few words about a spring but recently discovered, and which is about three-quarters of a mile out from Gainesville. It is known by the name of the Gower Spring. Its waters are chalybeate and are said to contain more healing properties than all the others. They have a sweet taste and partake somewhat of the properties of gin. Any one can drink a half gallon or more and scarcely feel it. After drinking it once or twice it creates an intense thirst for more. I have an intense longing all the time for more. The spring is getting to be exceedingly popular of late. Every afternoon the road leading hither is filled with vehicles and pedestrians of almost every description. Prominent among these may be seen an old gray-haired man, who, as regular as the day comes, in "wind or weather" goes for his morning, and evening walk to the spring and judging from his tall, erect figure and firm, elastic tread, the water is not without its effect upon him at least. Report says he has never married—is a bachelor and worth a million. Perhaps this has something to do with the number of fair ones who visit the spring. But all their attractions seem lost upon him for his heart appears as steel against their attacks.

A day or two ago a very talented physician visited this spring, and seemed perfectly carried away with it. He spoke of sending a bottle of the water to Atlanta to have it thoroughly analyzed. He predicted that in a few years it would be celebrated as a resort, especially for invalids. We with some enterprising person, with capital, would build a hotel here of this kind. We think it would pay. We shall write you again soon. Until then, goodbye.

Yours, ANNIE MARIA.

DEKALB SUPERIOR COURT.—Solicitor General Glenn made the concluding argument yesterday morning in the case of the State vs. Thomas Wair. The charge of Judge Hopkins was a lucid and concise explanation of the law of the case. The jury had not returned a verdict at the hour of adjournment.

The case of the State vs. Wylie C. Smith, charged with the murder of James M. Richardson, on the 6th of June, 1866, was taken up. The State was represented by Solicitor General Glenn, L. J. Winn and W. H. Hulsey; the defense by Hill & Candler, Gen. A. C. Garlington, and Col. T. Hodo Farrow.

The following gentlemen were sworn as jury in the case: T. F. Green, W. J. Headman, W. J. Donaldson, Thomas Ayers, W. M. Cochran, J. S. C. Wilson, H. E. Jones, A. S. Freeman, A. L. Pitts, J. F. Jones, J. W. Washburn, T. L. Wilcox. After hearing the testimony, the defence offering no evidence, Gen. Garlington made a fine speech for the defense and L. J. Winn for the State. Solicitor General Glenn and Hon. M. A. Candler make the concluding arguments to-day.

GRACEFULLY DECLINES.—Ex-Mayor Williams declines the race for Clerkship, in favor of Mr. Collins, in a very graceful card.

HID OUT.

A Man Charged with Homicide in Carroll County in 1858 Hides Out for Eight Years—Discovered—Examined—Acquitted—Joyful Time.

DeKalb Superior Court was engaged yesterday in trying a man charged with killing another man in 1858 and hiding out for seven years. The Norman Herald gives the facts about another case that "good one year better."

THE HOUSES OF BOON AND HESTERLY.

In the year 1865, Mr. Kinchen Boon and Mr. Hesterly, (given name not remembered), became involved in a quarrel at Carrollton, and during the melee Mr. Boon shot and wounded Mr. Hesterly. Hesterly fled in the vicinity of old Carrollton, and Mr. Boon on Snake's Creek, near what is now Whitesburg.

F. P. Hesterly, son of the Mr. Hesterly wounded by Mr. Boon, resolved to avenge what he believed to be his father's wrong.

MURDERED ON THE SABBATH DAY.

On one of the Sabbath days in the month of August of the same year, (1873,) Mr. Kinchen Boon attended church at Macedonia, in the Hesterly neighborhood, and after the close of services left the meeting house in company with Miss Birmah Broom, a beautiful and accomplished young lady residing near by. The couple had not gone very far before some person, with presented gun stepped from behind a tree and said, "Get out of the way Miss Birmah," and fired at Boon, who fell from his horse dead, a dozen or more slugs having lodged in his brains.

FLEES TO PARTS UNKNOWN.

Mr. F. P. Hesterly was charged with the killing, and, although several attempts were made to arrest him, none of them were successful, and in the fall or winter of that year he disappeared from the community. Where he went no one seemed to know, and from lapse of time the tragic death of Boon ceased to be a subject of conversation, save in deceased's immediate family circle. In the meantime a true bill for murder had been found by the grand jury of Carroll county against F. P. Hesterly.

DISCOVERED AT LAST.

Eight long years have passed by since the eventful day on which Boon was slain, and a friend of the Boons received a letter containing the following in substance:

"A man by the name of F. P. Hesterly has been residing in his (Lauderdale) county, Alabama, several years, and rumor says he killed a man in your county; and there is a reward for him?" The writer then gave a description of the man, which left no doubt in the minds of the family of the deceased that the person inquired about was the real F. P. Hesterly. Without delay the father of deceased placed the necessary funds in the hands of Mr. L. J. Smith and F. M. Williamson, the latter the Sheriff, both citizens of the county, and the two took the train at Whitesburg for Atlanta. After the necessary papers had been obtained the two gentlemen continued their journey, and in due time reached Tuscumbia, Alabama.

HESTERLY RESISTS, IS WOUNDED AND ESCAPES.

After their arrival they went quietly to work, secured the assistance of the Sheriff or Deputy Sheriff of the county and another citizen of the county. Messrs. Smith and Williams' in company with the officer and his assistant, left Thursday for Hesterly's residence, but after reaching a point within two miles of his house, halted, while the arresting officer and assistant went forward. The two found Hesterly at home and pretended they came to purchase beef cattle, engaged him in conversation, and finally when they had him in the desired situation, told him to consider himself a prisoner. Hesterly demanded "what have I done?" The reply was, "It is an old Georgia scrape." With out delay Hesterly drew his knife and prepared for existance. The officers began to fire—distant not more than four feet—and shot at him three or four times, wounding him as they thought, each time. Finally Hesterly fell in his yard, and his wife began to scream, and the officers thought he was dead or dying, and not wishing to witness the distress of his family, rode to the place at which Messrs. Smith and Williamson had stopped and informed them of what had been done. The four then went back to Hesterly's expecting to find him dead, but they did not find him either dead or alive—the bird had flown. Diligent search was made by twenty or more men in the woods and swamps of the Tennessee river, near which Hesterly lived, but all to no purpose. A negro who saw him informed Mr. Williamson that Hesterly was wounded in three places, whether mortally or even seriously, is not known.

IMPROVING STREETS

A Protest Against the Remorseless Diffusion of Red Mud Where it Isn't.

To the Mayor and City Council:

Your suffering petitioners beg leave to apply to your honorable body for relief.

We live on Jenkins street, between Collins and Calhoun. We had a tolerably good street. The soil is white and sandy. The streets were hard, and the sidewalks firm, save where stray patching of red clay by the street authorities had made a bad place here and there.

Last week, envious of this solitary patch of white soil, the street improvers pounced remorselessly on the spot and in two day's work of so called improving they have made the street and sidewalks a mush lobolly of diabolical red clay. Not satisfied with making a crimson clay mush bed of the street, they have daubed the sidewalk several inches thick in the same pestiferous, sticky, filthy mud. A good street has been simply ruined, and is a nuisance to the people who live upon it.

We respectfully ask to be put back where we were before. If this is out of the question and inconsistent with the general policy of diffusing red mud over every inch of the city's surface, than we ask at least to have our sidewalks sanded and rendered passable. The necessity is pressing

OUT OF HEALTH.—In this common expression is comprehended an immense amount of bodily and mental suffering. It is not necessary to be effected with positive disease in order to experience unutterable wretchedness. A person out of health is weak, languid, low spirited, incapable of much exertion, nervous, irritable, and as sensitive to every change of temperature as the mercury in a thermometer. What such a person requires is invigoration, and Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will supply it. No need of applying a to physician in such a case. The fee would be thrown away. At the nearest drug store may be had the most efficient and healthful vegetable tonic that the world contains. Twenty-five years' experience has established the fact that among all the stomachics and alteratives known to modern pharmacy this powerful restorative stands supreme, unapproached. Every bottle of Hostetter's Bitters contains more blessings than there were curses in Pandora's box. sept17 deodlw&wlt

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION

Railway Speed.

The London "Engineer" states that the highest railway speed in the world is attained in England, and that the highest of all is reached on the Great Western Railroad—the speed on the latter being given roundly as fifty miles an hour. Instances are given, however, of sixty-five and seventy miles an hour, and the "Engineer" believes that it could be kept up to a permanent way of as high a standard. It is such speeds as these, the trains at that travel on it with perfect safety at one hundred miles an hour—indeed, miles upon miles of such track are now to be found on most of the great main lines, but nowhere can one hundred consecutive miles of permanent way in perfection be found; and, as a chain is no stronger than its weakest link, so a few hundred miles of bad track would spoil for the purpose of traveling at one hundred miles an hour a whole line. The really important question, argues the Engineer, is given the line and the cars fit for it, what shall the engine be like, and it is possible to construct an engine at all which, with a moderately heavy train, will attain and maintain a velocity of one hundred miles an hour, on a line with no grade heavier than say, 1 in 300. After a thorough examination of the question in all its bearings the "Engineer's" figures prove that it is absolutely impossible to obtain a speed of one hundred miles an hour on a railway, if the resistance is anything like 120 pounds per ton.

Dressed For a Ducking.

Some of the ladies' dresses are outrageously fine when they go publicly into salt water. A yard of false hair, a long parasol, a double eyeglass, a pair of sky blue trousers, a fishing net and opera glass, a feather, a poodle dog, two young gentlemen, and an illustrated newspaper of fashions, a pair of lilac boots, a lighted cigarette, a camp stool, a nosegay and a nightcap make up this most simple and interesting costume. The sea is a big place, and a French lady may want all these things before she gets to the bottom of it. The best part of her bathing is, as might be supposed, to work on the sands and keep her costume dry.

There must be a large crowd to tempt her to wet it; but if she once resolves on doing so she calls upon all mankind (tout le monde) to witness her courage. Then she commits herself to a broad shouldered fisherman, who takes her in his arms and goes through a sort of war dance with her, while all the gentlemen of the neighborhood are looking on admiringly through telescopes and opera glasses. When she comes out the proper thing is to ask her "Mais a-t-elle a beaucoup peche," to which question she answers reflectively, "Mauvais sujet." At Trouville and some other places it is considered good, ladylike taste to smoke a cigarette, perched on a camp stool, immediately after the war dance above mentioned."

A WORD TO WORKING PEOPLE OF BOTH SEXES.—Mechanics, artisans, factory hands, and people who labor for a living, find it very difficult if not impossible to keep the hands free from stain. Hand Sapollo will not only remove every particle of stain, and what is called "grained in dirt," but it will also keep the skin soft and pliable, rendering the muscular action as quick and easy as is the case with those who do not perform hand labor. DR. TUTTS VEGETABLE LIVER PILLS.

The startling drawback on nearly all medicinal agents has ever been that in their process of purgation and purification they have also debilitated the system. To obviate this difficulty physicians have long sought for the agent that would
PURGE, PURIFY AND STRENGTHEN
At one and the same time.
Their research has at last been rewarded by a discovery which full realizes the fondest desires of the medical faculty, and which is justly regarded as the most important triumph that Pharmacy has ever achieved. The important desideratum is
Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pill,
Which purify the blood and remove all corrupt humors and unhealthy accumulations from the body, and yet produces no weakness or lassitude whatever, but on the contrary tones the stomach, and invigorates the body during the progress of their operation. They unite the heretofore irreconcilable qualities of a STRENGTHENING FUGATIVE and PURIFYING TONIC.
Dr. Tutt's Pills are the most active and searching medicine in existence. They at once attack the very root of diseases, and their action is so prompt that in an hour or two after they are taken the patient is aware of their good effects. They may be taken at any time without restraint of diet or occupation; they produce neither nausea, griping or debility, and as a family medicine they have no rival.
Price 25 cents a box. Sold by all Druggists.
Principal office, 18 and 20 Platt St., New York.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN
JURUBEBA
BLOOD PURIFIER
Is the Most Powerful Cleanser, strengthener and remover of Glandular Obstructions known to Materia Medica.
It is specially adapted to constitutions "worn down" and debilitated by the warm weather of Spring and Summer, when the blood is not in active circulation, consequently gathering impurities from sluggishness and imperfect action of the secretive organs, and is manifested by Tumors, Eruptions, Blotches, Boils, Pustules, Scrofula, etc., etc.
When weary and languid from overwork, and dullness, drowsiness and inertia take the place of energy and vigor, the system needs a Tonic to build it up and help the Vital Forces to regain their recuperative power.
In the heat of Summer, frequently the Liver and Spleen do not properly perform their functions; the Uterine and Urinary Organs are inactive, producing weakness of the stomach and intestines and a predisposition to bilious derangement.
DR. WELLS'
EXTRACT OF JURRUBEBA
Is prepared directly from the SOUTH AMERICAN PLANT, and is peculiarly suited to all these difficulties: it will cleanse the VITIATED BLOOD, strengthen the LIFE-GIVING POWERS, and REMOVE ALL OBSTRUCTIONS from IMPAIRED AND ENFEEBLED Organs.
It should be freely taken, as Jurubeba is pronounced by medical writers the most efficient PURIFIER, TONIC and DEOBSTRUENT known to the whole range of medicinal plants.
